

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

Apparatus is disclosed for establishing proper clearance between adjacent parts of a combine harvesting machine. Additionally, means are provided for control of airflow through the machine after proper clearances are established.